

Rowland+Broughton Completes Limelight Hotel Renovations

March 18, 2015

Rowland+Broughton has completed its interior renovation of the Limelight Hotel, located in Aspen, Colorado.

The firm's team chose a softer color palette and added new furnishings, finishes, and soft goods in conjunction with Limelight's "Lighten Up" brand initiative. Post-consumer carpet tile and existing casegoods and artwork were integrated into the design as sustainable solutions. In addition to the completion of 120 guestrooms, renovations include six guest suites with updated furniture and an informal lobby.

"The Limelight is a great example of how the vibrant yet relaxed Aspen lifestyle can be integrated into a hotel experience," says Sarah Broughton, principal of Rowland+ Broughton. "Our team was able to offer creative solutions in function and design, resulting in providing the highest level of service to our client and accommodating the needs of hotel guests. We are proud to be a part of such an amazing project."

A new Limelight Hotel is slated for Ketchum, Idaho this summer.
